DEDICATION

We, the Senior Class of 1960, wish to express our sincere thanks to one who has been a guiding light and inspiration to each and everyone in our class; who in our four years of high school has contributed greatly to our learning and achievements. To you, we dedicate this edition of the 1960 Roundhead. As we pass out this open door we shall always remember the high hopes, ideals, and dreams you installed in our minds during the years we were under your guidance.

MRS. ELIZABETH HUFFMAN

CLASS HISTORY

The history of our class is like procession moving toward a goal through doors that open and close. Each year as we were promoted to a higher grade, we shut the door on the past and opened the door to the future. During our four years of high school we often became discouraged and felt as if the door ahead would never be opened, but now we realize our hours of struggling and disappointment to reach the next door were worthwhile.

In 1956 we Freshmen made our entrance with an enrollment of fifty-six students under the leadership of Miss Nancy Shuler and Mrs. Jean Ballard. We worked for good grades, because we realized what a long, hard struggle it would be. A few students were lost our Freshman year, mainly to matrimony.

The session passed swiftly, and it was time to close our Freshman door and open the one leading to our Sophomore responsibilities. That year began with forty-eight students, and our homeroom teachers were Mrs. Elizabeth Huffman and Mrs. Helen Smith. Things were beginning to look brighter, because we were getting closer to our goal. We lost about six members of our class, some to matrimony and some to other schools.

As Juniors under the leadership of Mrs. Beulah Huffman, Mr. Ralph Vile, and Mr. Francis Stowell we anxiously opened the next door, because we knew this would be a very memorable year. With an enrollment of forty-two students we began the year by having an amateur contest, which was a success. Then on April 7 we joyfully received our class rings and proudly showed them to our classmates. Next in line was our Junior play, HILLBILLY COURTSHIP. The door closed triumphantly on this year with a Junior-Senior Prom held at the Hawksbill Recreation Park. A few students were lost to marriage and other schools.

Finally our last door was opened with thirty-eight members left in the class under the leadership of our helpful sponsor, Mr. Ralph Vile. The class worked hard trying to raise money for the two biggest events of our school years, a trip to New York City and the publication of the 1960 Yearbook, THE ROUNDHEAD. Some of our money-raising projects were a Senior play, a beauty contest, dances, movies, and food sales. Our spare time was spent roller skating, dancing, and attending parties and ballgames.

It is 1960 now, and time to step through the last door, the one that will take us away from Stanley High School. We do not know what shall open for us next, but we do know the goals will be bigger and the responsibilities greater. Each of us will travel alone and will be responsible for opening his own doors and leading his own life.

Now the night of our graduation has come, and with it joy mingled with tears. We find ourselves wanting to open the doors and start all over again, but we know that is impossible, because what lies ahead of us is more important than what we have left behind. No matter how far we wander or what doors we open, in our hearts we know the door to Stanley High School will never be closed to us completely.

CLASS PROPHECY

It is the year 1975. All the members of the class of 1960 are fifteen years older than they were on that night in June, 1960 when they parted company forever as a single class. All 38 members have received a mysterious invitation to gather at the meeting place of their younger days - but where else? Levi's in the heart of our old home town, Stanley.

The first to arrive is the one that we always could depend on at SHS. Who else but Judy Huffman? Next to arrive are those inseparable pals of our class; Janet Couch, Sally Aleshire, and Gloria Sours. They each have four names now. These four begin to talk of the ones whom they have heard cannot make it for this occasion. Among these are Nancy Estep Dorrough, whose husband is stationed in Alaska with the DuPont company; Robbie Bauserman, who is living in a houseboat in the middle of the Great Lakes; Harvey Painter, who is a big-game hunter in the wilds of Africa; and Ronnie Blosser, who is traveling with the Bar M Rodeo gang on a tour of the U. S. A. Also missing is Claude Ramey, now a pro roller skater and Bruce Huffman, his manager.

Do you hear that sneeze? It announces the arrival of the classmate who added a lot to our last year, Helen Weaver. By the way, Alva and Levi have retired and the place is now owned by John Belton who has a whole chain of "Levi's" all over the country. The Stanley Branch is managed by none other than that retired Admiral, Eddie Griffith.

We see two 1975 cars parked in front of the Youth Center, across the street. This certainly is one place that we would have enjoyed had it been there fifteen years ago. One of these cars, a Chevy, belongs to the class flirt, David Brown. How on earth did David manage to remain single all these years? The other belongs to Jeanie Louderback Judd and Gerald. They need a big car to accommodate that baseball team.

Here come the talented brother and sister team that added a lot to our class, Stewart and Doris Weakley Good. Now Doris writes the songs and Stewart sings them. The kids talk about those twin houses on a hill just outside of Stanley. They belong to those two Senior girls we always saw together, Marleen Bailey and Bonnie Breeden.

Everyone begins to talk of the school as it is today. Some members of our class are there even now. Stanley High has that football team we all wanted so desperately in 1959. It is coached by James Smith, our own intramural football star. He and Judy have two little players at home now. Betty Berry is a first grade teacher and the secretary is Judy Good. The boys' and girls' basketball teams are also coached by members of our class, Willard Jenkins and Susan Short. Speaking of sports, Nelson Painter referees the Stanley home games. Nelson always did admire the refs. Anita Judd is a history teacher at school now and Ronald Bushey is head cook. Ronald always held the highest respect for our cafeteria.

Do you hear the muted strains of "The Bear Flew Over the Ocean"? This announces the arrival of those inseparable Senior boys, Donnie Breeden and Roy Short. However, they have calmed down somewhat due to the presence of two wives and 13 children between them. The roar of an improper muffler is heard. When his wife doesn't allow him a night on the town Lynwood Foltz sneaks out. He always was good at slipping away. A panel truck with the sign "Miller's Electricians" pulls to the curb. Who else but Donald Miller - and the family. Levis' door opens. Heads turn. Who is the rich-looking lady? No, it can't be. But it is - Anne Owens. Anne always was a popular leader of our class. Guess her leadership ability helped her to secure a rich husband. Right behind her is another prosperous looking girl - our own Carolyn Rudolph. She must have gotten a job at Merck's as she really took in that talk by Mr. Good that day at SH. Especially the salary part. A tall man opens the door and three little freckle-faced children file in. Behind them is our own Gloria Pettit, now amended to Meadows. A special custom-made car slowly makes its way to a stop. This car makes the rest look like kiddie-cars. Its owner, Samuel Gray, gets out to check the engine. Sammy even found a way to improve the Chevrolet.

Sylvia Lucas pops through the door. Her cheeks are red from a long walk just like they were during her school days. She informs us that her pint-sized Jaguar is out of gas. Well, she certainly got a car to suit her size. Again the door opens and in strolls Albert Taylor. Everyone waits anxiously to hear what he will say. And there it is - the words we all were waiting for. "Does anybody have a weed to spare?"

The cry, "Charge" is heard and Nancy Huffman bounds around the corner. Behind her with a smile of amusement is a tall man whom she introduces as her husband, an ex-football player. Well at least that's no shock.

Someone begins to count and informs us that one of the Class of 1960 is unaccounted for. A green car comes speeding down the street (or should we say flying low?). A pair of antlers in the back identifies this car. Last (as usual) but not least is our S. C. A. president of 1960, Matthew Gray. As he closes the door a hush of silence falls over the Class of '60. As they all face one another they feel the same way. Although we are here together now it will not be for long. We all must go our separate ways and live our separate lives. Never again will we have as much fun along with teen-age sorrow as we did at SHS.

LAST WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1960, being of sound mind and body, do hereby make this our last will and testament.

To the Faculty, we bequeath our thanks and appreciation for the assistance and guidance they have given us through all these years.

To Mrs. Koontz, we bequeath our thanks for all the large and small favors you have done for us.

To Mrs. Dinges, Mrs. Huffman, and Mrs. Dovel, we bequeath our thanks for all the fine meals, and for the small snacks obtained off schedule.

To Mr. Keyser, we bequeath our appreciation for keeping our school clean and warm.

To the Junior Class, we bequeath the Senior homeroom mirrors to take with you to your homeroom next year.

To the Sophomore Class, we bequeath our old books and notes. We hope they will help you more than they helped us.

To the Freshman Class, we bequeath our ability to get through high school. There's a long, rough road ahead, but the reward is great.

I, Sally Aleshire, bequeath my awareness of the speed limit to Clara Housden. Don't take it over a 100, Clara.

I, Marlene Bailey, bequeath my knowledge of basketball to Mrs. Petefish.

I, Robbie Bauserman, bequeath my ability to be late to anyone who feels like fusing.

I, John Belton, bequeath my crazy laugh to Joe Cave. Try to control it, Joel

I, Betty Berry, bequeath my knowledge of chemistry to Lois Cave.

I, Ronnie Blosser, bequeath my good horseback riding to Winfred Dovel.

I, Bonnie Breeden, bequeath my ability to be right when everybody else is wrong to Miss Sherry.

I, Donnie Breeden, bequeath my weight to Denzle Reed.

I, David Brown, bequeath my interest in the Shenandoah girls to Beverly Breeden.

I, Ronald Bushey, bequeath my long black hair to Mr. Vile.

I, Janet Couch, bequeath my ability to control my temper to Sharon Blosser.

AND TESTAMENT

I, Nancy Estep, bequeath my ability to type 39 words a minute to anyone who thinks he can type that fast.

I, Lynwood Foltz, bequeath my old worn out walking shoes to Kenny Purdham. Hang on to them; they may come in handy.

I, Judy Good, bequeath my quiet ways to James Ettare.

I, Matthew Gray, bequeath my ability to be on time to Steven Yates.

I, Samuel Gray, bequeath my dislike for Fords to Roger Keyser.

I, Eddie Griffith, bequeath my sly ways to Roger Baker.

I, Bruce Huffman, bequeath my height to Vincent Housden.

I, Judy Huffman, bequeath my nick-name to my sister, Sandra.

I, Nancy Huffman, bequeath my ability to see something funny in almost everything to Judy Good. Laugh and the world laughs with you.

I, Willard Jenkins, bequeath my Corvette to Rodger Mayes.

I, Anita Judd, bequeath my height to Judy Hilliard, who really doesn't need it.

I, Jeanie Louderback, bequeath my ability to keep quiet in study hall to Frances Vigo.

I, Sylvia Lucas, bequeath my ability to chew gum without getting caught to Pearl Jenkins.

I, Donald Miller, Bequeath my so-called bashful ways to anybody who needs them.

I, Anne Owens, bequeath my ability to change my mind to Joyce Pettit.

I, Harvey Painter, bequeath my love of government class to Jacky Shuler.

I, Nelson Painter, bequeath my basketball ability to Danny Price, who really doesn't need it.

I, Gloria Pettit, bequeath my freckles to Gloria Ramey.

I, Claude Ramey, bequeath my beard to Earl Kibler. Here's hoping you like to shave!

I, Carolyn Rudolph, bequeath my band grade to anyone who has nerve enough to take it home.

I, Roy Short, bequeath my hairy legs to Nicholas Pence.

I, Susan Short, bequeath my ability to play basketball to Shirley Huffman and my ability to coach to Mrs. Peteefish.

I, James Smith, bequeath my ability to know my way to and from the library to Miss Norman.

I, Gloria Sours, bequeath my excellent grades to Olena Seal.

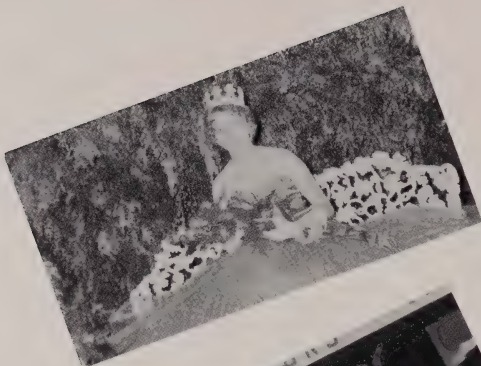

I, Albert Taylor, bequeath my perfect attendance record to Nelson Wayne Good.

I, Doris Weakley, bequeath my cracked teeth to anyone who has nerve enough to have them fixed.

I, Stuart Weakley, bequeath my voice to Truman Reed.

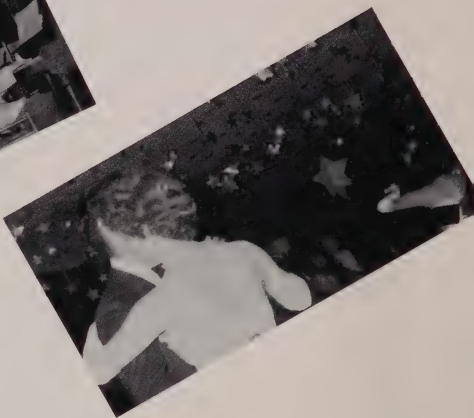

I, Helen Weaver, bequeath my silly giggle to Sandra Rudolph.

Stanley Girls Win In District L Tourney

Defeat Woodstock Girls In Championship Game, 40-22

The Stanley High School girls, playing their best game of the 1958-59 basketball season, defeated the Woodstock High School girls in the championship game of a District L tournament last night at Mt. Jackson. The score was 40 to 22. It was the first time that the Stanley girls have won a District L championship game, and the team coaches are very proud of it. In meeting the Woodstock team in the championship game the Stanley High girls were playing a team which was previously undefeated, having won something like 11 straight victories over a regular season without a loss.

Wins Opener Against Triplett 42-35

The Stanley High girls played their first game last Wednesday night as the District L tournament got under way by defeating the Triplett High School girls, 42 to 35.

The Stanley girls led at halftime, 22-14. Susan Short scored 11 points for the Stanley girls with Louella Hutchinson getting 6 and Becky Louderback 5. Woodstock won the winners' total, 22. Scoring for the Triplett girls were Steadman, with 14 points and Craig with 10. Bundick with 5 and Craig with 5 points.

The defensive play of the Stanley team was outstanding. During the championship game against the Woodstock girls two nights later, the Stanley High girls set off an amazing display by holding a 30-8 half-time lead. The Stanley scoring was by Susan Short, who hit 10 points, with a big assist from Louella Hutchinson and Becky Louderback as each scored 12 points for Stanley. High scorer for the Woodstock girls was Sheetz with 18 points. Blackwell and Boyden scored 10 points each for the losers. A full line, the Stanley girls had 13 while the Woodstock girls hit on 5 out of 11 shots.

The defensive play of the Stanley guards, Leola Cave, Yvonne Long, Judy Purdham and Fauserman, again played a major part in this very important game as they had all season. Leola Cave, Yvonne Long and Judy Purdham, all Seniors, played as players for Stanley in a blaze of glory and could have ended their basketball careers under a more perfect sky than helping to bring the District L tournament trophy to Stanley High School. The other players, Robbie Fauserman, is a Junior, and Becky Louderback, a Senior, the team will have back next year's regular forwards. Susan Short, Junior, and Louella Hutchinson and Clara Housden, both Seniors, a season's record in the District L League of 8-2. Acting as head coach for the team was Miss Nancy Shuler. Helping Miss Shuler in coaching the Stanley girls

Luray vs. Stanley Friday Night Here

Luray opens its Basketball season at home this Friday evening against Stanley High School with a Junior Varsity bill being scheduled for 7 p. m. and the varsity game immediately afterwards.

The Varsity line-up will have Southerly and Henderson at forwards; Price and Pettit at guards; and Swartz at the pivot position. Stated to see action will be Jones, Henry and Griffith.

In the starting line-up for the Bulldogs, Jerry Swartz is the only returning letterman from last year's squad. Southerly, Henderson, and Pettit played Junior Varsity basketball however, and
